

Conductors and Insulators

In science we learnt all about conductors and insulators. We had to design our own insulators that would stop an icy pole from melting.

